THE WORKROOM CO.

Identity Statement:
I am Christine and I am an Executive Support Specialist

I am an Executive Support Specialist and trusted right hand to ambitious founders and business leaders. I bring structure, initiative, commercial thinking and genuine care to the businesses I support, helping busy leaders stay focused on growth while knowing the important details are being handled.

I don’t simply complete tasks. I take ownership, solve problems, build strong relationships and look for ways to make things easier. With more than 15 years of experience across adminstration, operations, recruitment, HR, business development and client relationships, I understand how to support people and businesses effectively, including clients in the UK and US.

I am building a business that allows me to do meaningful work with people and companies I believe in, while creating a successful life on my own terms. I want the freedom to grow professionally without sacrificing the people, values and priorities that matter most to me.

I am not starting from scratch. I am building from experience.

The Workroom Co.
Making work work.

The Brand Story
Every great creation starts in a workroom.
Long before the final gallery opening, the product launch, or the polished campaign goes live, there is a room where the sleeves are rolled up. It's where sketches are pinned to walls, tools are within arm's reach, and messy, brilliant ideas are hammered into shape.

At The Workroom Co., we believe that businesses shouldn't drown in the operational clutter of running a company. You should be able to focus on the craft. We are the trusted hands in the back of the house, clearing the bottlenecks, and refining the daily workflow so that your business runs as beautifully as your work. We don't just "do admin" we build the workroom where your vision becomes reality.

Brand Personality
The Vibe: Artisanal, grounded, focused, collaborative, and deeply professional without feeling corporate or cold.

The Persona: You are the master craftsperson or the head of operations. You value precision, appreciate good design, and love turning chaos into a well-oiled machine. You speak the language of creatives because you respect the messiness of the creative process.

Translating the Theme to Your Business

You can weave the "Workroom" metaphor playfully

Discovery Call: "The Consultation" or "Sketching it out" (figuring out what they need built).
Onboarding: "Setting up the workbench" (getting passwords, tools, and calendars organized).
Ongoing Support: "Daily Maintenance" or "Refining the build" (keeping operations tight and smooth).

Website Hero Section Copy Idea

H1: You bring the vision. We build the workflow. Subhead: The Workroom Co. provides tailored executive support and operational backbone for creative companies, design studios, and any founders who want to focus on what they do best. CTA Button: Step into the workroom.

The client gets:

Packages

2. THE PARTNER

£700 / $900 per month

Up to 20 hours/month

hero package.

Best for:
Founders, consultants and small-business owners who don't necessarily need a full-time employee but need someone who knows the business and keeps things moving.

This is where you move from:

"Give me tasks."

to:

"Tell me what needs to happen and I'll help make sure it happens."

Executive support

- Inbox management
- Calendar ownership
- Meeting preparation
- Meeting notes
- Action tracking
- Follow-up management
- Weekly priority organisation
- Preparing briefing documents
- Travel/research coordination
- Keeping the founder's outstanding tasks visible

———

Client & commercial support

This is where your background becomes a real differentiator.

You could own:

- CRM maintenance
- Lead/pipeline updates
- Client follow-ups
- New-client onboarding coordination
- Proposal preparation
- Quote/proposal tracking
- Client meeting preparation
- Follow-up sequences
- Client information management
- Basic pipeline reporting
- Relationship touchpoints:

Packages

People & recruitment coordination

Without becoming an HR/legal service:

- Job advert coordination
- Candidate scheduling
- Interview coordination
- Candidate communication
- Reference-check administration
- New-starter checklists
- Employee documentation organisation
- Onboarding coordination
- Recruitment pipeline updates

———

Operations

This is where I'd start introducing ownership:

- Maintaining recurring processes
- Keeping project boards updated
- Following up with team members
- Maintaining SOPs
- Creating simple workflows
- Identifying things falling through the cracks
- Organising recurring meetings
- Creating recurring reports
- Maintaining business systems

Operationally:

The client shouldn't have to say:

"Please remind Sarah about the document."

They should be able to say:

"Sarah needs to get the document to us before Friday."

And you own the follow-up.

That's a massive difference in perceived value.

Packages

THE WORKROOM

£1,350 / $1,700 per month

Up to 40 hours/month

This is your embedded fractional business-support package.

Best for:
A growing business where the founder is becoming the bottleneck.

You're no longer simply supporting the founder.

You're supporting the business around the founder.

———

Executive

You become the founder's operational right hand.

You could manage:

- Inbox
- Calendar
- Meeting preparation
- Meeting follow-ups
- Weekly priorities
- Action lists
- Internal communications
- Research
- Travel
- Documents
- Presentations
- Recurring executive reporting

———

Client & commercial operations

You can take responsibility for an entire workflow.

For example:

New client onboarding

You could:

1. Receive signed agreement
2. Create CRM record
3. Create client folder
4. Send welcome communication
5. Schedule kickoff
6. Create internal tasks
7. Notify relevant team members
8. Track outstanding information
9. Prepare kickoff documentation
10. Update CRM
11. Follow up
12. Close out onboarding checklist

Operations

This becomes a significant part of the package.

Systems

- CRM administration
- Project-management systems
- Google Workspace/Microsoft 365 organisation
- Notion/ClickUp/Asana/Trello etc.
- Database maintenance
- Workflow documentation
- SOP creation

Process improvement

You look at:

"Why do we keep having to do this manually?"

And investigate.

You might:

- document the current process
- identify bottlenecks
- simplify steps
- create templates
- create checklists
- automate simple repetitive tasks where appropriate
- establish ownership
- create a recurring workflow

———

Team coordination

You aren't their manager, but you can become the coordination layer.

For example:

Founder → Workroom → Team

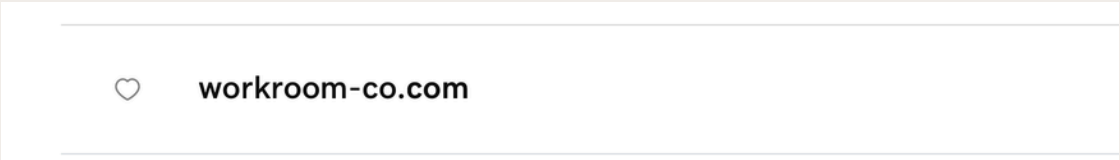

You can:

- circulate actions
- chase deadlines
- coordinate meetings
- maintain project trackers
- prepare weekly updates
- identify overdue items
- escalate things requiring leadership decisions

That is much closer to Operations Coordinator / Business Manager territory.

What do I need

- some lead gen from site would be amazing
- I will need a client form for enquiries
- Not too many words - founders have little time. I want clear & concise
- Purchase of domain

- Email address creation - I want to use google/ outlook app but want it to be: x@Theworkroomco.com
